STEWART ABOVE ALL.

The Denver News, the great champion of free coinage and the largest and ablest newspaper published west of the Missouri, says:

"When the history of the struggle for the recoinstitution of silver shall have been written the name of William M. Stewart of Nevada will tower above all the statesmen of the day as the most sincere and faithful of the advocates of the cause of the white metal."

That is the opinion entertained of Senator Stewart by the silver men of Colorado and the whole West and South. There is not a sincere advocate of free coinage in the United States who does not admit what the News asserts. The gold-bugs hate the Senator because of the earnestness and persistency with which he advocates the silver cause, and they are assailing him from every quarter. Right here in Nevada, where there should be no opposition to his re-election to the United States Senate, the Harrison forces, the pretended friends of silver, are conspiring to defeat him. The Virginia Enterprise, which is owned by Wall street, lends its columns to the Salt Lake Tribune to abuse him. The Tribune, as is generally known, abandoned the silver cause for administration pap and Wall street coin, and is sent to anybody who will read it free of charge. It opened its mud batteries on Senator Stewart for telling the truth about Harrison, and the Enterprise at the bidding of its Wall street owner renders it all the assistance in its power. The Senator, however, is with the people and the people are with him in the war to right the wrong of 1873. In every county in the State there will be a Legislative ticket pledged to support him in his gallant fight for free coinage, and no thinking man can doubt the success of that ticket and his re-election to the Senate.

THE STATE FAIR.

The Eighth Annual Fair of the State Agricultural Society closed last evening. It was one of the most successful and satisfactory of those yearly gatherings. The attendance was large, the races above the average, the stock exhibit creditable, and the management all that could be desired. The display at the Pavilion was fully equal to, if it did not excel, that of former years. The exhibit of ladies' handiwork was creditable to the skill and taste of the fair sex. The farmers showed what can be produced in the cereal, fruit and vegetable line. The mechanical department furnished evidence of the skill of our artisans, and the exhibits by our merchants proved that all the luxuries as well as the necessities of civilized life can be procured in Reno.

These annual gatherings are looked forward to with pleasurable anticipation by the people. They afford them opportunity to meet together and exchange views on public and private affairs, and though times are dull and money scarce, there were many visitors from all parts of the State at the Fair, and all seemed to enjoy themselves.

The Mining Age, a non-partisan paper, but a staunch advocate of free coinage, says the nomination for Congress of Francis G. Newlands, of Nevada, is a reward for faithful service in the cause of free bi-metallic coinage. If elected silver would have in him a forceful advocate on the floor of the House. His argument as well as his ability as an orator would command attention. Both would be hard to match. That is the apt of friend the white metal needs.

The annual report of the Utah Commission to the Secretary of the Interior, says a change is apparent in the political situation in Utah. It insists that polygamy still exists, but as the existence of the commission, the members of which receive good salaries for very little work, depends upon the existence of polygamy, that might be expected. That Utah is advancing and progressing, is conceded, however.

Miss Henrietta Kenney, a volunteer nurse in the Eppendier Hospital at Hamburg, says there is one good point about cholera, which is that it does not keep its victims in suspense. If they are to die they die quickly; if they are to recover, they regain their usual health and spirits in a day.

Churchill county is falling into line, and well informed men say Weaver will carry the county by a large majority.

Seven Dead and Three Wounded.

MANON, Oct., Iowa, September 24.—Seven dead and three injured is the result of the awful railroad wreck at New Hampton this morning.

A crew had been at work on the main line of the Chicago and Great Western road replacing rails this morning. About ten o'clock a train pulled into New Hampton on the main track, and stopped to do some work. The through freight, due there at 10:15, was behind time and running on orders not to stop at New Hampton. The road enters New Hampton from the north, but within sixty rods makes a turn, going directly east. This makes a bad curve in the road, and a grove between the rails and the curve at the rate of thirty miles an hour and crashed into the caboose of the construction train. The engineer and fireman jumped just in time to save their lives, for a moment later the engine struck. It is known positively that one more man is under the engine, for a part of the body can be seen. Work of cleaning up the wreck is very slow. The bodies removed from the wreckage are awfully mangled. Some pieces of female wearing apparel have been taken out. It is feared that there may be a woman in the debris.

A Type Trust.

NEW YORK, September 24.—The Times says: The American Typefounders' Company, is a newly formed trust, which seeks to control the type making industry of the country, as it calls itself, has issued a preliminary prospectus which gives a definite idea of its magnitude, capitalization, $9,000,000, representing 40,000 shares preferred and 50,000 shares common stock. Twenty-three houses in the trust represent, it is asserted, 85 per cent of the entire business of the country. The President is Robert Allison of Allison & Smith, Cincinnati; Secretary, A. T. H. Brewer, of the Union Type Foundry, Chicago. Only three large firms—Farmer, Little & Co., the Bruce Type Foundry of this city, and Barnhart Bros. & Spindler, Chicago, remain on the outside of the combination, and so far as the New York houses are concerned, they are practically in harmony with the aims of the trust.

The new organization will practically control the market and all the smaller firms will be practically crowded out. The immediate effect of the combination will be to put an end to the fierce competition of the last ten years. The rate of discounts will be reduced materially and prices come up.

Dangers of the Sea.

MARSHFIELD, Oct., September 24.—Another accident in the series of efforts to rescue Captain O'Brien and a sailor from the wrecked Waterman occurred to-day when the life-saving crew attempted to go to the wreck. The life boat was capsized and the crew thrown into the sea. Captain Pops of Portland, who was in the boat, received an ugly flesh wound by striking his head against the gunwale of the boat. He did not recover consciousness until after he had been brought to Empira City. A volunteer crew, consisting of fishermen had been formed at Empira City to take Captain O'Brien and sailors off, but Captain Looch would not allow them the life boat. His action is strongly criticized by citizens. The surf is still running high. The Waterman has not changed her position, but is still afloat in the sand. Her masts are still standing in the same position as when she struck.

A Bank Robbed of $10,000.
TACOMA, Wash., September 24.—A Ledger special from Ellensburg, Wash., says "a report reached here from Roslyn, Wash., that the bank of Ben E. Soipes & Co. was robbed this afternoon by six men, who rode up to the door on horseback. Fred Frazier, the teller, was shot in the leg and seriously wounded. A negro named Connolly is reported killed. The amount of money secured by the robbers is stated to be $10,000. Officers are in pursuit, but have discovered no trace of the robbers. Cashier Abernathy attempted to use his revolver, but was knocked down by one of the robbers."

The Children All Saved.
CHICAGO, September 24.—To-day while two hundred school children were aboard the old whaling ship "Progress," which was tied to a dock in the river here and used as a museum of Arctic Curiosities, a saw which was being towed through the river, lurched and punched a hole through the bow of the "Progress." The old whaler filled with water and sank to the bottom. The children were all safely taken off.

Bishop Mass Assaulted.
CINCINNATI, September 24.—An unknown man called this afternoon at the residence of Bishop May in Covington and asked for the bishop. The porter directed him to his room, and when the bishop opened the door in response to a knock, the stranger fell him to the floor with a fearful blow, rendering the reverend bishop unconscious. The porter tried to stop him, but was cowed by the sight of a revolver. The bishop is not seriously hurt.

Killed His Son-in-Law.
UKIAH, Cal., September 24.—Henry Wade, a resident of Calipatria, came here this afternoon and gave himself up to the Sheriff and informed him that he had killed his son-in-law, Jeff Hopper this morning. He alleged a quarrel and says family trouble is at the bottom of the matter.

ST. LOUIS, September 24.—Patrick Sarsfield Gilmore, the noted bandmaster, died here suddenly to-night.

STEWART ON THE COMSTOCK.

The Silver Champion Addresses an Enthusiastic Audience on the Paramount Issue of the Campaign.

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted Senator Stewart at Piper's Opera House, Virginia City, last night, nearly all the prominent citizens of the place and hundreds of miners being present. The silver champion was greeted with cheers and frequently interrupted with applause. On being introduced the Senator said:

Ladies and Gentlemen:—The Act of 1873, which omitted the silver dollar from the list of coins, was smuggled through the Senate. The provision which became a law was never read or voted upon in that body. This I have repeatedly proved by the record in debate with Senator Sherman who succeeded in placing on the statute book

THE MOST NEPHEW LAW
Ever devised against the prosperity and happiness of the human race. Every Member of Congress and Senator, except John Sherman, who participated in the passage of the Mint Act which contained the fatal omission of the silver dollar who has spoken on the subject has declared that he knew nothing of any provision in that Act affecting the coinage of silver. Among those who were ignorant of the demonization of silver were Senators Thurman, Garfield, Boggs, Conkling, Allison, Blaine, Voorhees, Beck, Hersford and House and Representatives Holman, Cannon, Kelley and Baruchard, all declaring that although present and participating in the legislation they had no knowledge of the fact that silver was demonized by the Act of 1873. President Grant, who signed the bill, was equally ignorant, for two years afterwards he recommended the building of more mints to coin silver to provide for the redemption of specie payments. John Sherman alone has maintained ever since the discovery of the fraud that he had knowledge of it at the time and justifies the crime. In 1873, when

THE PLOT TO DEMONETIZE SILVER
Was consummated, the money of the world consisting of gold and silver coin, upon which rested the paper circulation and credit and business, is estimated by statisticians to have amounted to $7,500,000,000, about one-half of which was gold and the other half silver. The United States, although the largest producer of silver was the first to strike down that metal. The Sherman bill passed in February, 1873. Germany followed in August of that year. The Latin Union mints were closed in 1875. The market for silver at the mints of the civilized world was out off. The privilege which the owner of bullion enjoyed from prehistoric times to have it coined into money equally with gold was denied him. The bullion silver fell in the market. The bondholders and bankers of the civilized world immediately commenced to disparage coined silver. The standard silver dollar of Hamilton was called, when silver bullion fell 5 per cent, a ninety-five-cent dollar; then a ninety-cent dollar; and so on from time to time as the bearing operations of the governments of the United States, England and Germany under the management of the gold combination depressed the price of silver, until now

THE STANDARD SILVER DOLLAR IS DENIED
And denounced as a sixty-five-cent dollar. The silver coin of Europe and America is no longer a part of the reserves of the governments, banks, and other financial institutions, but the basis now recognized is gold alone. There has been no increase of the gold coin in the world since silver was demonized. Fully one-third of the world's product is sent to Asia where it is hoarded and used for non-monetary purposes. None of it ever returns, because the exports of Asia always exceed the imports into that continent. The remaining two-thirds of the annual product of silver is consumed in the arts. The total gold coin in the world is now only about $3,700,000,000, which barely equals the amount of gold coin in existence when silver was demonized. The effect of destroying one-half of the world's money of ultimate redemption has been most disastrous to silver mining, to the debtor class and to all persons engaged in industrial pursuits. The value of gold and obligations payable in gold have advanced in eighteen years more than 40 per cent., while the average range of the price of commodities has declined fully 40 per cent.

THE FARMERS OF THE UNITED STATES.
Europe unaffected by emigration, growth of cities, or other local causes, have declined in value in eighteen years fully fifty per cent. The price of the great staples of the United States—wheat and cotton—is in ordinary years below the cost of production. The shrinkage of the volume of money of ultimate payment by discarding silver and adopting the gold standard has concentrated the wealth of the world in the hands of bondholders, money lenders, and holders of gold. The gold combination of the eastern states and Europe, has reduced the silver miners and the farmers and planters of the West and South to a condition of poverty and want never before realized in the United States. The producing classes who are robbed by the gold trust outnumber their oppressors more than ten to one, but their voice at the ballot box is silenced by the strategy of the gold bugs. They control the railroads because they are bonded to them in a sum of $5,000,000, which is equal to the cost of construction. They control the banks because all bankers in good standing must belong to the fraternity. They control the merchants because they are dependent on the banks and the railroads. They control the press in commercial centers because the banks, the merchants and the railroads control the advertisements. The plan of sumpango is entirely similar to that adopted by General Crook in Arizona, when by strategy he convinced to make the various tribes of the Apache fight each other, and by that means nearly exterminated the race.

The West and the South have a common interest in restoring silver. Every possible effort was made to draw sectional lines and to produce sectional strife. The most effectual scheme of Harrison's administration was the ble effort was made to draw sectional lines and to produce sectional strife. The most effectual scheme of Harrison's administration was the

FORCE BILL.

Which was not only designed to secure negro supremacy in the South, but to deprive all the people of the United States of the rights of local self-government. It authorized the appointment of an unlimited number of supervisors and deputy marshals to be paid out of an unlimited standing appropriation. There could have been under the bill a half a million or a million strikers at the polls, with full control of the elections, with power to certify and return the result which was to be received as prima facie evidence, and in case of Members of Congress, it was made the duty of the House of Representatives to place upon the members designated by Federal authority. By the liberal use of the party lash, every Republican from the silver States could have defeated it and cemented a union of sentiment as well as of interest between the silver men of the South and West. Such a union is indispensable to the success of the Silver party. Since the Force bill passed the House two free coinage bills have passed the Senate which have failed in the House. The free coinage bill which passed the Senate at the last session received in the House of Representatives only eight votes from the Republicans, while the Democrats voted for it to the number of one hundred and eighty-seven. Many silver Democrats failed to vote for the bill for various causes. The pressure of the gold ring, the influence of Cleveland, the prejudice against the silver Republicans who had voted for the Force bill, prevented its passage.

In the Senate the case was the reverse. The silver Senators beat the Force bill and united the friends of silver of the South and of the West in a powerful combination to resist the gold trust and the politicians and the dictators of Cleveland and Harrison the servants and instruments of that trust. HARRISON AND CLEVELAND
Serve the same master. They were nominated by the same influence and on substantially the same financial platform. They are fighting a sham battle over tariff schedules, while they are in harmony to reduce the world to the single gold standard. Harrison is now in the lead. He has made a new platform in his letter of acceptance. He is opposed to independent action on the part of the United States but is willing to destroy silver by an international conference. He is willing that that conference shall provide for free coinage, provided that it will make the commercial value of the silver in the silver dollar equal to the commercial value of the gold in the gold dollar. In other words to change the ratio from 16 to 1 to 24 or 25 to 1. Such a scheme would fix the value of silver at its present market price and practically put an end to silver mining. This policy would destroy the State of Nevada.

For the last ten years I have been compelled to disregard party lines and to cooperate with the silver men to accomplish anything looking to free coinage or even keeping up the agitation for the restoration of silver. Last April the Republican party of the State of Nevada in convention assembled condemned the action of President Harrison and the Republican party of the East for their hostility to silver, and resolved "That the people of Nevada are in favor of the coinage of silver upon the same terms and conditions which apply to the coinage of gold, and they are opposed to elevating any person to office who is not known to be unequivocally in favor of opening the mints of the United States to the free and unlimited coinage of silver."

This is the exact position now taken by the silver party of Nevada. It is the position which I have occupied for several years and which I now occupy. It was a large and representative convention. The leaders of what now composes the Harrison party in this State were there, namely, E. Strother, A. C. Cleveland, Tremore Coffin, E. O. Farrington, Wm. M. Chapin, Geo. F. Tarrille, M. D. Foley and nearly every other member of the Harrison band. The resolutions were passed unanimously. It had not occurred to them at that time that it was necessary to use Harrison's name to defeat free coinage. The leading members of that convention now charge me with changing my position with regard to elevating men to office who are enemies of silver, and give as an excuse for opposing me my refusal to support members of the gold trust or their agents.

SENATORIAL COMBINATION.
In 1890 I canvassed this State and made a special effort to elect the whole ticket, including the hold-over Senators. I canvassed Washoe for Foley and Eke for Williams. My friends tell me that I saved the election of both these gentlemen. I understood that they were favorable to my re-election to the Senate. During the session of the Legislature which followed that election vague rumors reached me that there was a combination between the nine hold-over Senators and several unnamed candidates for the United States Senate to defeat my re-election, and that at the next election the primaries were to be manipulated and professed friends of mine were to be nominated, who, if elected, would join the combination and defeat me. I did not credit the rumors, because I knew that all the nine Senators could not have been in such a conspiracy, but that such a combination was formed I am compelled to believe. The reason given by the manipulators for attempting to defeat me was most false. It was charged that I was opposed to the Air Line Railroad. A more unwarranted falsehood was never uttered. I am now, always was, and always will be in favor of any railroad that can be built through any part of Nevada. My first allegiance is to my State. Any railroad would benefit the State, and any aid or encouragement in my power to give shall be freely given to any and all persons engaged in building more railroads in this State whether the persons themselves are friends or foes. I mention this matter to show that the excuse now given for opposing me is an afterthought.

It is not true that I have changed my position with regard to elevating to power men who are opposed to free coinage, but it is true that my opponents are guilty of changing front and joining the enemies of free coinage. I do not know how many of the persons engaged in the combination against me are candidates for the United States Senate. I am certain that none of them are running for that office in their own names. Mr. Bartine is the nominal candidate. I hope he will not find himself after election, in case of the election of any of the nominees who now profess to be his friends, in the same unfortunate position that I occupy, with reference to certain of the hold-over Senators for whose election I labored two years ago. He will discover that if it is to their interest to oppose him, they will find plenty of excuses for so doing.

MY COURSE IN THE SENATE.
I was elected the first Senator from this State 25 years ago. I served the State at that time for eleven years. I prevented the sale of the mines at auction, and secured the passage of the mining laws which still remain. With the aid of my colleague Senator Nye, I obtained an appropriation for the creation of the Mint. I aided in securing all the local legislation required for the establishment of a new State. I served through the existing period of reconstruction. The records will show the part I bore. I could not afford to remain in office longer. I returned to the practice of the law. I regarded the silver question as paramount to all other considerations. To take part in its solution was my principal reason for seeking a re-election to the Senate. At the time of my election I pledged myself to serve the State to the best of my ability. I enumerated such measures as I thought beneficial, and which I would labor to accomplish, and that pledge was recorded in the journals of the Legislature. Every promise I made I have fully redeemed.

The Scott law for the exclusion of Chinese, of which I took charge in the Senate, settled the Chinese question. The mint was reopened; further appropriation was obtained for the completion of the public building; the Indian school was established; the State University was endowed by the general government; State claims and private claims were investigated and pressed upon the attention of Congress at every session; the $400,000 due the State for moneys expended in aid of the suppression of the rebellion has been adjusted by the War Claims Commission, twice reported favorably in each House of Congress, once passed the Senate, and now acknowledged claim against the Government pending for an appropriation. And a bill for the payment of the Pike war claims has been passed through the Senate in each Congress since I was elected. Postoffice matters and pension claims have received careful and accurate consideration. The timber trespass suits maliciously prosecuted against the people of the eastern counties have been dismissed. The letter of every citizen which I have received has been answered. The reduction of Indian reservations and the subject of irrigation have occupied much of my time in the Senate. My life in the Senate, although laborious, has been pleasant, because I felt that I was laboring for the benefit of the State of Nevada whose people have honored me beyond my deserts. If re-elected as a free man, absolved by my State from party ties which would bind me to an odious gold combination, I shall enter into the service of the people with freedom of action to co-operate with the West and the South, and with the friends of free coinage and the free ballot from every section of the United States.

If Nevada will stand by the declaration of the Republican platform of April last and refuse to elevate to power the enemies of our State, it will be a protest against the tyranny of the gold ring if nothing more. It will endear our State to the friends of local self-government everywhere and will encourage the advocates of free coinage in the great producing States whose industries are now paralyzed by gold contraction.

The Fire Friday Night.
The fire Friday night was on the Wellman ranch, on the south side of the river, and about two miles west of town. Some 100 hundred tons of hay, the barns, cowsheds, corral, etc., on the ranch were entirely consumed, and the loss will amount to between $1,200 and $1,500. No insurance. It is thought that the fire was incendiary, and a man suspected of starting it, is now in jail awaiting an examination. Negotiations were to close next week for the sale of the hay, and the loss is very severe.

OTTAWA, September 24.—The Government notified the British government that a man-of-war was ordered to proceed to Vladivostok to investigate the recent seizure of Canadian vessels by Russian cruisers.

The White Pine News, which is a great admirer of A. C. Cleveland, one of the Harrison anti Silver electors, says Mr. Cleveland is not a great admirer of Mr. Harrison, and he would not feel honored in casting an electoral vote for him. The people of White Pine, therefore, feel they could not impose so bitter a dose on Mr. Cleveland as to elect him to vote for Harrison.

THE STATE FAIR.

The Last Day—The Fair a Grand Success—The Closing Races.

List of Premium Awards—The Pavilion—Snap Shots—Good Bye.

The last day of the fair was a fitting close of an exceedingly pleasant week while everyone has had a magnificent time, yet all are satisfied with enjoyment and are willing to resume the even tenor of their way. The crowd was hardly as large as the day before but the grand stand was filled.

The day was the best of the fair as far as weather was concerned and was one of those beautiful and incomparable Nevada Fall days.

THE RACES.

The unfinished race of Friday was the first event. It was won in two heats, one each by Maud H and Chloe, giving the race to Chloe.

The next event was a 1/4 mile race; Purse $150. The entries were Charger, Joe and Dewdrop. Joe was favorite. The race was won by Dewdrop. Time 1:03.

The next event was a contest between Vanity, Mackey, Democrat, Tom Stacy and Little Mills. Little Mills was a high favorite and won. Time 1:23.

In this race the short ends were very numerous, as the pools sold $75 to $12 on Mills. As the horses started the field had the advantage, as Tom Stacy took the lead and at fifty yards was leading by about four lengths, but after passing that mark the horse almost stopped and was so lame he could barely walk. It was afterward learned that the horse had slipped a tendon in the left front leg. The short ends would have made a big haul if the accident had not happened, but what is one man's meat is another man's poison, and the favorites are happy.

The next event was the special maiden race, entries Red Rose, Little Tough, Trumbo, Nelson and Randwick. The field sold highest in the pools, Nelson won. Time 43. Nelson is a Reno horse, owned by Dan O'Keefe. He was a sensation and made a pretty race.

The trotting race, 2:35 class was a pretty race. Engineer won the first heat. Time 2:33. Second heat was won by Hattie B. Time 2:33. The third heat was won by Engineer. Time 3:22 1/2.

The fourth heat was won by Anteo Jr. Time 2:33 1/2.

A FEAT.
Theo. Winters out some of his famous cheese and the entire crowd sampled it with a keen relish. Mr. Winters has a fine collection of cheeses which have been admired all week by visitors, and when the announcement was made that he would have them sampled a large crowd responded. There was a general good time indulged.

THE FAIR.
It has been a most gratifying success this year and every one enjoyed it. It has been a decided financial success. The people feel pleased. The management ought to feel pleased. Their earnest endeavors had met with success. The fair of 1892 closed one of the best in the history of the State. All will resume their business duties now loaded with memories of a pleasant week, and hoping next year may see a repetition of this year's fair and its success.

CRUSHED BY THE CAR.
The Mangled Body of Sam Will Found on the Track Near Wadsworth.

Friday evening about 7:30 o'clock the mangled remains of Sam Will, a vaquero, known in Western Nevada, were found on the railroad track near the Central Pacific railroad bridge at Wadsworth. The Dispatch says he was out of employment and had been drinking lately and was probably lying on the track when run over by the train. He was a native of Nevada, about 42 years of age. His father was one of the English settlers on the Truckee river. He has a sister, Mrs. J. Fellagle, and two brothers residing at Wadsworth.

THE THEATER.
The Georgia Woodthorpe Company closed its week's engagement in Reno last evening. Every play produced by the company during the week was interesting. Carson City will be favored during the next week, commencing Monday next, and the Journal would recommend the company to the people of the Capital City. The entire cast is good, but the child actress is extraordinary.

FOSTER'S WEATHER FORECASTS.
The Next Disturbance Will Affect the Weather in All the Atlantic States.
Copyrighted 1892 by W. T. Foster.

St. Joseph, Mo., September 24, 1892.
My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from the 25th to the 29th, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 30th, cross the Western mountains about the close of October 1st, the great central valleys from October 2d to the 4th, and the Eastern States about the 5th.

This disturbance will develop its greatest force on the 5th and 6th in the Eastern States and on the Atlantic coast, and will affect the weather of all the Atlantic States.

The cool wave will cross the Western mountains about October 3d, the great central valleys about the 5th, and the Eastern States about the 7th.

St. Mary's Parochial School.
The junior department of the new Catholic Parochial School on the corner of Sixth and Chestnut streets will be opened to-morrow. For the present instruction will be given only in the primary and elementary grammar grades, and it is not intended to receive pupils over 12 years of age.

The grading, course of studies and text books will be substantially the same as at public schools. Special religious instruction will be given only to Catholic children, but it is expected that the religious atmosphere of the school will be beneficial to all. The parochial school will be under the supervision of the Rector of St. Mary's church and will be taught by the sisters of St. Dominic and graduated lay teachers. It is hoped that this new aspirant will not be an unwelcome addition to the educational institutions already flourishing in Reno.

Congregational Church—The pastor Rev. T. Magill, will preach to-day at 11 a. m. on the subject, "The religion of childhood" and in the evening upon, "Men of the world whose portion is in this life."

The River Front.
The work of building a street on river front is being pushed ahead rapidly. The wall has been built to within 100 feet of the bridge, and would be finished if the owner of that corner would consent to the use of the ground along the edge of the river for the purpose.

The work of filling in behind the wall with prison labor was very slow, and Mr. Newlands, with his accustomed energy, ordered his men to go ahead and put it through without regard to the county's work. It is nearly ready for travel, and if the owner of the ground next to Virginia street shuts it off it will be built to her line and an entrance cut through to First street on Mr. Newland's land, so that before snow flies the town will be presented with a substantial and elegant improvement.
